WILLIAM THEODORE SCOTT

He was the son of William L. and Minerva Glass SCOTT and was born in LeClair, Iowa on 12 Dec. 1858. He married Alta GREENE on 30 Nov. 188 , in Brooklyn, Iowa. They moved to Russell Gulch, Gilpin County, Colorado (just west of Denver) shortly after their marriage. Two children were born to them (Nellie A. and Robert -- lived only 4 months) before they moved to Boulder, Colorado where a third child was born (Frank P., 4 Aug. 1886)

William and Alta moved from Colorado to Long Beach, CA., in Sept. 1908. In November 1908 they moved to San Diego.

Their son-in-law, Ray Dyer BAILEY, was killed in a tragic accident on 20 Nov. 1918, near San Diego when he was 34 years old. "Ray D. BAILEY foreman of the Fenton-Parker Materials quarry was killed instantly by an electric shock from a live wire at the quarry... ."

My mother visited her "Uncle Will" in the San Diego area in the summer of 1912. From my mother's notes of her trip I learn that he carried a major responsibility in connection with Sweet Water Dam. His granddaughter has told me he was "Superintendent of the Sweet Water Dam." As a small child this grandda-ghter remembers the terrifying experience of spending the week-end with her grandparents when the dam broke and flooded the valley below.

Shortly after this event Alta left William and information about William dries up. William died in San Diego on 20 August 1931. At the time of his death the following brief notice appeared in the San Diego Paper:

"SCOTT - of 6803 Imperial Ave., William Theodore SCOTT, beloved husband of Mrs. Alta SCOTT, and father of Mrs. Nellie BAILEY of San Diego and Frank P. SCOTT of Montana, IOOF Cemetery.

It is known that William T. SCOTT had a sister named Mrs. D. E. HAYWARD whose address was Boulder, Colorado.
